WHY IS THIS TRAINING IMPORTANT?

Companies using MEWPs must designate a qualified individual to monitor, supervise, and evaluate operators regularly to ensure proficiency. These supervisors must receive proper MEWP Supervisor training.

This course equips supervisors with essential knowledge of:

- Rules, regulations, and standards governing MEWP use.
- Selecting the right equipment for the task.
- Compliance with manufacturers' operation manuals.
- Identifying potential hazards and mitigating risks.

KNOW YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES AS A MEWP SUPERVISOR

Have you selected the right machine for the job?

Are your authorized MEWP operators properly trained and familiarized?

Have you identified potential hazards and taken preventive measures?

This training course will help you confidently answer these questions and prepare you to safely and effectively supervise MEWP operations on-site.

Why IPAF?

- Meets ANSI A92.24 Requirements
- Train Anytime, Anywhere!
- Save Time & Money

WHO SHOULD TAKE THIS COURSE?

Anyone responsible for overseeing MEWP site management, including:

- MEWP Supervisors
- Employers
- Project Managers
- Infrastructure Managers

This requirement applies across various industries, such as:

- Construction
- Facilities Management
- Retail
- Industrial Cleaning
- Farming
- Airports
- Arboriculture

This course covers what supervisors must know to ensure the safe use of MEWPs on site.

QUALIFICATION

The course concludes with a test. Upon successful completion, candidates receive an IPAF certificate.

N.B. This is not MEWP operator training; no practical training on MEWPs is included in this course.

eLEARNING

For your convenience, the eLearning option of the MEWP Supervisor course allows candidates to undertake training online in sections and to complete the course at their own pace, on compatible PCs and tablets.

Alternatively, in-person training can be delivered by an IPAF Approved Instructor at an agreed time and location.
